Dear Taxpayer:

Thank you for your correspondence of Mar. 12, 2014.

The office named at the end of this letter has responsibility for handling matters of this kind. We're sending your letter to their office for a reply. We're sorry we couldn't be more helpful. If you have any questions, someone at that office will be able to help you.

We're sending your letter to our office at the address shown at the end of this letter, since they are now responsible for collecting the amount you owe on your account.

Your total balance due for the tax period(s) shown above, which includes penalty and interest computed to July 27, 2014, is $48,313.69. We will continue to charge penalties and interest until you pay the amount you owe in full. Send your payments to the Service Center address shown above.

We've provided, below, a general explanation of the possible penalties and/or interest included in the current balance due on your account. If you would like a specific explanation of how the amounts were computed on your account, please contact us at the toll-free number shown in this letter and we will send you a detailed computation.

* Filing and/or Paying Late -- IRC Section 6651 ****

We charge a 5% penalty for filing late, and a 1/2% penalty for paying late, when a return is filed late and the tax is not paid by the date it was due. When both penalties apply for the same month, the penalty for filing late is reduced by the amount of the penalty for paying late for that month.

The penalty for filing late is based on the tax ultimately due, which was not paid by the original return due date without regard to extensions.

The penalty for paying late is based on the net unpaid tax at the beginning of each penalty month following the payment due date for that tax.

The penalties are charged for each month or part of a month the return or payment is late; however, neither penalty can be more than 25% in total.

Income tax returns are subject to a minimum penalty if filed late and received more than 60 days after the due date. The minimum penalty is $135 ($100 for returns due before 1/1/2009) or 100% of the tax paid late, whichever is less.

The penalty for paying late applies when tax is paid late, even if the return was filed on time. The due date for payment of tax shown on a return generally is the return due date without regard to extensions. Increases in tax must be paid within 21 days of our notice demanding payment (10 business days if the amount in the notice is $100,000 or more).

If we issue a Notice of Intent to Levy and the balance due isn't paid within 10 days from the date of the notice, the penalty for paying late increases to 1% per month.

For individuals who filed on time, the penalty decreases to 1/4% per month while an approved installment agreement with the IRS is in effect for payment of that tax.

* Interest -- IRC Section 6601 ****

We charge interest when tax is not paid on time. We figure interest from the due date of the return (regardless of extensions) to the date we receive full payment or the date of the notice.
